THE PATCH PRIMARY SCHOOL

Student Engagement and Wellbeing

School Profile Statement

The Patch Primary School is a friendly and caring school located in an attractive semi-rural physical environment in the Dandenong Ranges, close to Monbulk and Kallista. The school values and philosophy includes emphases on valuing the environment, community, and our indigenous and non-indigenous heritage. The school aims to provide learning that meets the needs of all students, and develops the knowledge and skills required to ensure a sustainable future.

The values which sustain our school community and provide us with an ideal for our interactions with each other are:

- a sense of identity based on understanding ourselves, our community, our own past and the story of our unique land and its people;
- a sense of integrity based on an ethical system that includes consistently treating others in a truthful, compassionate and cooperative way;
- a sense of community based on connecting with others, understanding diversity, respecting the rights and views of others and living sustainably in an interconnected world;
- a sense of determination based on being challenged, thinking creatively and critically, believing in our ability to achieve our best and being resilient and persistent enough to take risks and learn from both mistakes and successes;
- a sense of humour.

Underlying The Patch Primary School Codes of Conduct is the belief that as a community we are united by our common desire to provide a learning environment that meets the needs of all students. In recognizing this, all members of our school will respect and value the rights and views of others.

Whole School Prevention Statement

Building a safe and supportive school environment is essential to student engagement and wellbeing. Students can only learn effectively in environments in which they feel safe and supported and where their teachers have high expectations for their learning.

The emotional and physical wellbeing of our students is pivotal to their success at school, as adolescents, and in their future lives. Physically and emotionally healthy students are happy, able to deal positively with life’s challenges, experience a sense of connectedness with the school and others, and are well placed to develop into well-balanced and successful young adults. Our student welfare policy is to lead the children towards self-discipline, accepting and respecting others and caring for other people and property.

The Education Act requires that children of school age (six to sixteen years) resident in Victoria are required to be in full-time attendance at a government or registered non-government school unless they are receiving approved home tuition, correspondence education, or have been granted an exemption by the Regional Director.

Rights and Responsibilities

An effective school is an inclusive school with a strong moral purpose. It is imperative that all staff, students, parents/carers and members of the whole-school community exhibit positive relationships and value difference, as this supports both a positive school environment and effective classroom learning. Every member of the school community has a right to fully participate in an educational environment that is safe, supportive and inclusive. Everyone deserves to be treated with respect and dignity as detailed in the following documents

◊ The Equal Opportunity Act 1995 sets out the types or grounds of discrimination that are unlawful and aims to promote community recognition and acceptance of the equality of men and women, and the equality of people of all races, regardless of their religious or political convictions, their impairments or their age.

◊ The Charter of Human Rights and Responsibilities Act 2006 outlines a vision of human rights for all Victorians. The charter affirms that all people are born free and equal in dignity and rights. While the charter demands equality for all, it also emphasises the value of difference. The charter requires public authorities, including government schools and their employees, to act compatibly with human rights and to consider human rights when making decisions and delivering services.

◊ Disability Standards for Education 2005. The standards clarify and make more explicit the obligations on schools and the rights of students under the Disability Discrimination Act 1992. The standards cover enrolment, participation, curriculum development, student support services, and harassment and victimisation.

An education provider must make ‘reasonable adjustments’ to accommodate a student with disability. An adjustment is a measure or action taken to assist a student with disability to participate in education and training on the same basis as other students. An adjustment is reasonable if it does this while taking into account the student’s learning needs and balancing the interests of all parties affected, including those of the student with the disability, the education provider, staff and other students. In determining whether an adjustment is reasonable, an education provider should take into account information about:

- The nature of the student’s disability
- His or her preferred adjustment
- Any adjustments that have been provided previously
- Any recommended or alternative adjustments

This information might come from the student, an associate of the student, independent experts, or a combination of these people.

An education provider should ensure that the student, or an associate of the student, has timely information about the processes for determining whether the proposed adjustment would cause unjustifiable hardship to the provider. The provider should also ensure that these processes maintain the dignity, respect, privacy and confidentiality of the student and the associates of the student, consistent with the rights of the rest of the community.

The provider may consider all likely costs and benefits, both direct and indirect, for the provider, the student and any associates of the student, and any other persons in the learning or wider community, including:

- costs associated with additional staffing, providing special resources or modifying the curriculum
- costs resulting from the student’s participation in the learning environment, including any adverse impact on learning and social outcomes for the student, other students and teachers
- benefits of the student’s participation in the learning environment, including positive learning and social outcomes for the student, other students and teachers, and
- any financial incentives, such as subsidies or grants, available to the provider if the student participates.

The DDA (Disability Discrimination Act 1992) and the Education Standards do not require changes to be made if this would impose unjustifiable hardship to a person or organisation.

Bullying and Harrassment

Harrassment is any verbal, physical or sexual conduct (including gestures) which is uninvited, unwelcome or offensive to a person.

Bullying is repeated oppression, physical or psychological, of a less powerful person by a more powerful person or group.

Cyberbullying is a form of bullying which is carried out through an internet service such as email, chat room, discussion group, online social networking, instant messaging or web pages. It can also include bullying through mobile phone technologies such as SMS. It may involve text or images (photos, drawings).

Examples of cyberbullying behaviour are:

- teasing and being made fun of
- spreading rumours online
- sending unwanted messages
- defamation

Cyberbullying can happen to anyone and the bully can act anonymously if they want. People can also be bullied online by groups of people such as class groups or collective members of an online community.

The school will provide a positive culture where bullying is not accepted, and in so doing, all will have the right of respect from others, the right to learn or to teach, and a right to feel safe and secure.

in their school environment. Bullying in any form is unacceptable and will not be tolerated at any level, and consequences exist for students who choose to bully others.

Teachers
Teachers are in a unique position to assist parents in developing children’s ability to reason, analyze, create, experience and understand their world. It is a challenging and rewarding task that involves a passion for knowledge, a commitment to children and a desire to join with them in a community of learning. We recognise that teaching is a complex task, teachers have a duty of care to all students whilst having immediate responsibility for a group of students, each with their own talents and needs. As well as following the above practices that apply to all staff, teachers should also strive to:-
◊ develop teaching that makes learning accessible to each child
◊ ensure that all students are made aware of their potential to learn
◊ encourage children to take responsibility for their own learning
◊ have a sound and up to date knowledge of how children learn and develop, and a commitment to professional development to improve their practice

School Community

With Our Families

Parents and families are the major influence on how academically and socially successful students are.

Our vision of students who are developing into reflective, self-directed, ethical and responsible people will only be achieved when parents are also committed to these values. While recognizing and celebrating the diversity of our school community, underlying the relationship between home and school there must be trust, honesty, respect and the understanding that we are all determined to achieve the best outcome for our children.

In dealing with our school, parents can expect that:

◊ they will be welcome at school and their contributions to classroom and school activities will be acknowledged and appreciated
◊ they will be listened to with courtesy and an open mind
◊ their unique knowledge of their child will be valued
◊ their privacy will be respected
◊ they will be informed of their child’s progress and the school’s activities and achievements
◊ their views on the running of the school and its educational policies will be sought and there will be opportunities to become part of the school council and its committees.

In dealing with parents, the school can expect that:
◊ staff will be treated with courtesy and an open mind
◊ staff knowledge of their child at school will be valued
◊ parents will reinforce the values of the school and support class and school activities
◊ parents will encourage their children’s school education by recognizing achievements, building on successes and sharing their learning.
◊ Parents will ensure their child is adequately prepared and is at school on time.

With Our Community

Our relationship with the local community is based on both the assistance that we receive for our programs and activities, and the responsibility we have to encourage students towards active and responsible citizenship. In our dealings with local residents, businesses, community groups and other schools we will:

School Actions and Consequences

Supporting Policies

◊ Student Wellbeing
◊ Student Welfare
◊ Attendance
◊ Bullying
◊ Complaints
◊ Code of Conduct – Principal, Staff, Students and Parents and Community

Student engagement, regular attendance and positive behaviours are supported most effectively through relationship-based, whole school and classroom practices, including:
◊ establishing predictable, fair and democratic classrooms and school environments
◊ ensuring student participation in the development of classroom and whole school expectations
◊ providing learning programs that cater for all
◊ consistently acknowledging all students
◊ empowering students by providing opportunities for them to take responsibility and be involved in decision-making
◊ providing physical environments conducive to positive behaviours and effective engagement in learning
◊ implementing school-wide positive and educative behaviour support strategies.

Inappropriate behaviours, including irregular attendance will be responded to through:
◊ understanding the student
◊ ensuring a clear understanding of expectations by both students and teachers
◊ providing consistent school and classroom environments
◊ scaffolding the student’s learning program.
Broader support strategies include:
◊ involving and supporting the parents/carers.
◊ involving relevant staff.
◊ tutoring/peer tutoring
◊ mentoring and/or counselling
◊ developing individualised flexible learning, behaviour or attendance plans
◊ providing broader educational programs – e.g. Environmental Education, Creative Arts, Music, camps, excursions/incursions, Philosophy, LOTE etc.
◊ involving community support agencies.

Discipline procedures – Suspension and Expulsion
Students should only be excluded from school in situations where all other measures have been implemented without success or where an immediate suspension is the only appropriate course of action in response to the student’s behaviour. We encourage students to accept responsibility for their actions, and to participate fully and positively in their educational experience. It is important that schools view exclusions only when all other options have been exhausted or where the well-being or safety of another student or a member of staff is at risk.
